The Commissioner of the Revenue is a State constitutional officer as stated in the Constitution of Virginia and is the chief assessing officer of the local government. This is an elected position for a four-year term and serves the taxpayers as well as the County.

Taxes taken in generate revenue for Buckingham County, include personal property tax, real estate tax, as well as taxes that fall within the guidelines of the state and local tax codes. This office also serves as a source of assessment data or researching and planning for the state and local community. State Income Tax, including accelerated returns and estimated income tax processing, are a major function of the office. These revenues go to the Commonwealth of Virginia, rather than the County of Buckingham.
